JEETA has been continuing to ensure among people to sustain the organic practice in farm work. As a result less investment in organic fertilizer is going on. The introduction of method of System Intensification in rice, wheat, millet and pulses has resulted in significant yield whereas investment cost is lesser than in case of conventional method. It is very much appreciated by the local farmers, which is evident from the increasing of farmers and areas covered adopting this method in number year by year. The main strategies espoused to make this programme successful are mentioned below.

- Capacity building and handholding support provided to the farmers in the field.
- Application of organic manures.
- Interface meeting of farmers with the agricultural experts for proper guidance
- Sharing of experiences among themselves
